Summary: Scattered rain showers are expected both Monday and Wednesday afternoons with Wednesday likely having the highest coverage of activity and shortest amount of available “dry time”. Thursday will bring more sunshine with clouds and rain returning on Friday. Heaviest rain focused late in the afternoon and into Friday night.

Forecast Confidence: Timing of precipitation for Friday is uncertain as rain may hold off until the mid-section of the afternoon, allowing for a good window of dry conditions during the first half of the day.
